

Inside Out

Nowadays, we tend to base a lot of our worth on the way we look. This also leads us to base the worth of our idols and influences on the way they look as well- but looks aren't everything! Find five people who you inspire based on traits that aren't physical appearance. Think of why you admire these people, and what impacts they have had on you or the world. Why are they good role models?

Name	Why do you admire this person? What makes them stand out for everyone else? Why are they a good role model?
